|   |  |   |   |  |                          | Estimated Effor     | t        |               |
|---|--|---|---|--|--------------------------|---------------------|----------|---------------|
|   | User Story   | # | Task  | Subtasks   | Task Assigned To         | per Task(hours) | Done     | Kleurcode     |
|   | -  |   | 1.1 - Following the Responsibility Driven Design, start from your requirements (without considering your implementation) and derive classes, responsibilities, and collaborations (use CRC cards). Describe each step you make. Compare the result with your actual implementation and discuss any difference (e.g., additional and missing classes). | Derive classes from requierements. Describe each step you make.  | Lilian                   | 0,5                 | 2        | Rogier        |
|   |  |   |   | Derive responsibilities from requirements. Describe each step you make.  | Lilian                   | 0,5                 | 1        | Christian     |
|   |  |   |   | Derive collaborations (use CRC cards). Describe each step you make.  | Lilian                   | 0,5                 | 0        | Karin         |
|   |  |   |   | Compare the above result with our implementation and discuss   | Lillali                  | 0,5                 | 0        | Nailli        |
|   |  |   |   | differences.   | Lilian                   | 0,5                 | 0        | Lilian        |
|   | -  |   | 1.2 - Following the Responsibility Driven Design, describe the main classes you implemented in your project in terms of responsibilities and collaborations   |  | Karin & Lilian           | 4                   | 0        | Bas           |
|   | _  |   | Following the Responsibility Driven Design, reflect if some of those non-main classes have similar/little responsibility and could be changed, merged, or removed. If so, perform the code changes; if  | Explain why the other (non-main) classes are considered less important.  | Karin & Lilian           | 1                   | 0        | Fieke         |
|   |  |   |   | Reflect if some of the non-main classes have similar/little responsibility   |                          | .            |          |               |
|   |  |   |   | and could be changed, merged or removed.   | Karin & Lilian           | 1                   | 0        | All           |
|   |  |   | not, explain why you need them  1.4 - Draw the class diagram of the aforementioned main elements  | Perform the code change or explain why you don't need them.  | Karin & Lilian           | 2                   | 0        |               |
|   | -  |   | of your game (do not forget to use elements such as parametrized classes or association constrains, if necessary)   |  | Karin & Lilian           | 5                   | 0        |               |
|   | -  |   | 1.5 - Draw the sequence diagram to describe how the mainelements of your game interact (consider asynchrony andconstraints, if necessary)   |  | Karin & Lilian           | 4                   | 0        | Not started y |
|   | -  |   | 2.1 - What is the difference between aggregation and composition? Where are composition and aggregation used in your project?   | Describe the difference between aggregation and composition  | Fieke                    | 0,5                 | 2        | Working on i  |
|   |  |   |   | Describe where we use composition & aggregation in our project   | Fieke                    | 0,5                 | 0        | Done!         |
|   |  |   |   | Describe the composition & aggregation classes and explain how these associations work.  | Fieke                    | 1                   | 0        |               |
|   |  |   | 2.2 - Is there any parametrized class in your source code? If so, describe which classes, why they are parametrized, and the benefits of the parametrization. If not, describe when and why you   |  | OL : I                   |                     |          |               |
|   | -  |   | should use parametrized classes in your UML diagrams  | Day, the steep discuss for all bis southing in the second  | ChristianFieke & Bas | 8                   | 0        |               |
|   | -  |   | 2.3 - Draw the class diagrams for all the hierarchies in your sourcecode. Explain why you created these hierarchies and classify theirtype (e.g., "Is-a" and "Polymorphism"). Considering the lectures, arethere hierarchies that should be removed? Explain and implementany necessary change  | Draw the class diagram for all hierarchies in the source code.  Explain why the hierarchies were created and classify the type.    | Fieke & Bas              | 1                   |   |               |
|   |  |   |   |  | Fieke & Bas              | 1                   | 0        |               |
|   |  |   |   | Implement any necessary change and explain it.   | Fieke & Bas              | 1                   | 0        |               |
|   |  |   |   | Define requirements extention  | Christian & Rogier       | 1                   | 2        |               |
|   | As a developer, I want a file to be  |   | 3.1 - Extend your implementation of the game to support logging. The game has to log all the actions happened during the game (e.g., player moved Tetris piece from position X to position Y). The logging has to be implemented from scratch without using any existing logging library. Define your requirements and get them                       | Create classes, requirements and collaborations for this extension   | Christian & Rogier       | 2                   | 0        |               |
|   | created during gameplay that keeps track of all actions performed on/by  |   |   | Create a class diagram for this extention  | Christian & Rogier       | 2                   | 0        |               |
|   | the player, so that I will be able to  |   |   | Create a sequence diagram for this extention   | Christian & Rogier       | 2                   | 0        |               |
|   | find bugs easier in the software,because this file will report not onlywhich potential errors occurred, butalso with which steps the softwarereached it. |   |   | Implement the autention according to those disgrams  | Dagios                   | 6                   | 0        |               |
| ) | reduced it.  |   | 3.2 - During the analysis and design phases of this extension use responsibility driven design and UML (push to the repository a single PDF file including all the documents produced)  | Implement the extention according to these diagrams.  / see above.   | Rogier                   | ,                   | ,        |               |
| , | -  |   | 4.1 - Use plugins correctly   | / see above.  Make sure that when you have edited a class, that maven reports no checkstyle, findbugs or pmd errors in that class. | All                      | ,                   | 1        |               |
|   |  |   | 5.1 - Changing classes based on Responsibility Driven Design  | Update methods should be splitted into different update methods that have their own responsibilities                               | Bas                      | 2                   | 0        |               |
|   |  |   |   | Level1State contains methods that are equal to each level state, so this should be divided under other classes.                    | Bas                      | 2                   | 0        |               |
|   |  |   | 5.2 - Player should be able to jump onto bubbles  |  | Bas                      | 2                   | 0        |               |
|   |  |   | 5.3 - The game should have multiple levels.   |  | Bas                      | 2                   | 0        |               |